Auto-Club Drives Around Honshu

Boarding a 1937 new truck 26 members of the Chuo Automobile Club left the main gate of Chuo University for Osaka on a 21-day trip around Honshu at 10:30 a.m. on June 22, the party was seen off by school authorities and many students amid the thunder of applause and farewell music by the Brass Band.

The students aboard the car were senior, and junior boys divided into three groups. The A-group is to drive the car from Tokyo to Osaka, from where the B-group is going to drive to Sendai via Himeji, Shimono-seki, passing the Sanyo road and Matsue, Maizuru, Toyama, Niigata, Akita and Aomori, along the Japan Sea coast and Moiroka. From Sendai the C-group is to return to Tokyo on July 12.

The auto-club's trip this time has five-fold purposes; "to learn and obtain the technique of long-distance driving," "to develop the spirit of endurance and co-operation," "to investigate road and traffic conditions.

26 Auto-Club members are seen posed before their departure from the main gate on June 22. They will return to Tokyo on 12th this month.

These are much worthy of students activities and their results are closely watched by the Authorities of the Ministry of Construction and an automobile production Company. The Chuo Auto-Club also succeeded in a drive around Honshu last summer and Kyushu the summer before last.

TO THE JOB-HUNTERS

It is the season you have to prepare for employment. Though employment examinations are scheduled to be carried out in October, yet it may not be too early for you to decide the kind of job you prefer since supplementary examinations were carried out on June 23.

On account of the reduction of the economic scale and of the fact that private varsities are too many, the difference between the number of graduates and the ability of the economic world to absorb them is great, making it difficult to secure employment every year. Last year's employment rate was rather good because of "Zinmukeiki" (the unprecedented boom in Japanese history). However, due to the unfavorable balance in Japan's international accounts, this year's condition is said to be not so good as that of last year. Therefore any optimistic views on this year's employment problems are considered very dangerous. It is said that the ability of the economic world to absorb university graduates is 10 thousands against 50-60 thousands. Those seeking jobs should keep in mind that the ways to secure their much coveted employment is extremely hard. For this reason, it is thought necessary for you to take the most rational way after mature consideration so that you may not leave the jobs you think suitable unoccupied or let others occupy them while making vain efforts in your aspiration to get jobs which are not within your reach.

In the first place, when you select a job you should aim at one whose required terms fit you well. Since employers want men of sociability in addition to their being diligent and health, youth cheerfulness and vigour are essential elements. A moderate man without any personality is hopeless as a member of society even if he be a good student.

Secondly, you should think that any part of the country is a place where you can work so long as you haven't some particular reasons. If you don't want to leave Tokyo without any reason, that may be taken to mean that you are making your employment range much narrow. This accounts for the reasoning that it is better to have as many chances as possible to employment examinations.

Lastly, the so-called "pull" is said to be helpful in seeking employment to same degree. But it should not be beyond ability.

Anyway it may not be long before you can decide or find jobs on which you can live through your life. Until then you will have a two-month summer vacation in which you can improve your health, study and enhance your common sense which is generally weak-point to prepare for final employment examinations this fall.

Israeli Visits To E.S.S.

By M. Saito

Chairman of E.S.S.

20 members of E.S.S. had a chance to talk with Mr. Asher Naim, Secretary of the Israel Embassy in Japan, at the Chuo University Hall on June 14.

We got much knowledge about Israel from the secretary, who soon became familiar with us, probably out of his love, for Japanese students have almost no chance to meet Israel in Japan. The occasion like this is very significant as it makes us easy to know the opinions of foreigners about Japan. As he works with the Embassy, he knows well about Japan, especially about literature. He also knows such writers as Ryunosuke Akutagawa who killed himself, Kan Kikuchi, Junichiro Tanizaki, etc.

In the conversation with him we could glean two or three topics and they were so interesting that I think they are worthy of being carried in this column.

As Israel is a small country on the rim of the European continent, the students in that country have much interest in the political jolt of the world, and also think it necessary to recognize the details of world politics which have close connection with their everyday life.

For that reason, all Israel students have mastered three or four foreign languages completely, and in many cases honor students are masters of eight languages, all including speaking, writing, and reading. This language versatility has made them participate in many political meetings and criticize outspokenly both domestic and foreign political movements.

All universities of Israel are supported by the Government. Private universities are very hard to manage on account of their difficult finances.

He showed us many photos of cities, temples, countries, mills and etc, and one of them was very impressive. That was a photo of rural scenery. It showed the modern agriculture system recently adopted by that country. In the center of a village there were a school, park, library, post-office, occupying a considerable part of the village.

The center was surrounded by large fields. From this modern system we could guess that Israel is going to develop its agriculture.

He talked much about other things, such as religion, industry and desert which seemed quite novel to us, giving us much information on many domestic aspects of Israel.

Yoshieda Gets Semi-Victory

The 4th National Students' Oratorical Contest for the "Horitrophy" was held on June 11 at the Chiyoda Public Hall. Some 24 delegates from many universities took part in it, including representatives from this university's concerned society.

Miss Taeko Yoshieda (Law 3), who is a member of the Society for Oratorical Studies took part in the contest, and spoke on the subject of "Fundamental trend of Japanese Economics and counter-measures to the emidium and small businesses."

The first place was won by Kansai University, and she was ranked second as in the previous year.

International Student Conference

The 4th International Student Conference is going to be held from July 16 to 28, sponsored by the International Student Association of Japan, at International Christian University and Kobe University.

The main theme of the Conference is "The role of the Youth for the World Peace."

The I.S.A. of Japan is an unofficial and non-partisan student organization, founded in 1934 as the "Japan English Student Association (JESA)," and reorganized in 1946 under the present title.

It aims to encourage cultural exchanges with other countries through student activities, and to contribute to the establishment of international friendship.

Mr. Kazuo Tanaka (Law 4) is not only the representative from Chuo University but also one of the delegates from Japan and will participate in the Conference during the term.

Following is the schedule of Tokyo Session as it is held in Tokyo and Kobe.

July 16... Reception by the Metropolitan Governor 6.00-9.00 p.m.
17... General Orientation at I.C.U. 10.00-11.30 a.m.
Preparatory Talk and Discussion 1.00-5.30 p.m.
18... Discussion 9.00-11.30 a.m.
19... Discussion 1.30-5.00 p.m.
20... Discussion 9.00-11.30 a.m.
Reception Meeting 3.00-5.30 p.m.
21... International Night 7.00-10.30 p.m.

The last day of the Tokyo meeting is the occasion for the delegates from various countries to display their native lands' traditional and habitual things. From the next day the session will be brought to Kobe.

5 Students Detained

Some members of the National Federation of Self-Government Student Associations (Zengakuren) resorted to sitdown in front of the Metropolitan Police Headquarters demanding that five students free placed under custody on charges of interference with public duties.

Students of the federation visited the American Embassy on June 21 in their appeal that H-bomb tests be banned immediately and that Okinawa be free from any permanent atomic bases.

In this demonstration about 1,000 policemen guarded the Embassy compound against the students. Then there was a little scrimmage between both sides, in which five students were arrested.

Sitting protest was going on as of June 25.

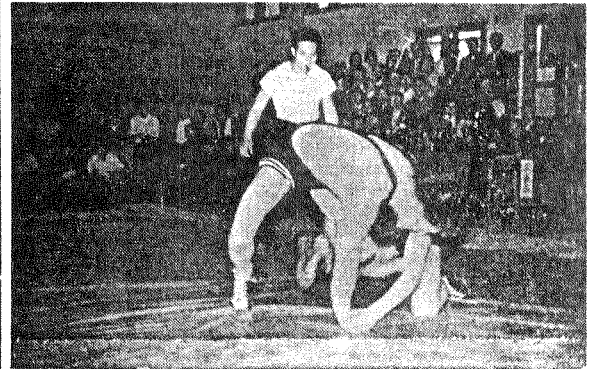

Wrestling Ranks Top In Kanto

The intercollege wrestling league game on the Kaoto District had its final on June 23, at Aoyama Gym. This day, Chuo met with Meiji and defeated it with the score of 6-5. After the match, Chuo was awarded the championship cup, which was the first time in seven years, and the seventh one in all. As the score shows, it was quite a close game. According to the previous expectations, Chuo was thought hardly strong enough to get even a half of the score with Meiji which might gain in eight matches ranging from fly-weight to light-weight.

In welter-weight, there could be hardly found any noticeable difference between Takeda (Chuo) and Doi (Meiji), but, in the end, the former raised his points by taking to the offensive all the time. Nagai (Chuo), in middle weight, who is superior in technique won by decision over his opponent Takagi (Meiji), trying effective tackles over and over again in the latter half. Chuo by gaining these two matches one after another, won the conclusive victory in the championship.

As a whole, Yoshida, captain of Chuo, displayed his conspicuous skill and energy while Meiji's Suwa showed a remarkable play to bring to the mat Kawabe (Chuo) in less than two minutes.

The 6th Tokyo Intercollegiate Judo Championship, which was also elimination matches for the coming All-Japan Intercollegiate Judo Championship, was held at the Metropolitan Gym. on June 16, with some 33 colleges participating in it.

Yoshida, captain of Chuo, succeeded in tacking down his Meiji rival in the top game of the league match held at Aoyama.

Sham English Exam Held

The time for next year's would-be-graduates to take examinations to obtain employment is getting closer and closer. This is certainly a headache to many university students in the country. It is almost acknowledged that success or failure at the adoption-examination depends upon the English ratings.

For the above-mentioned reason, the English Speaking Society in this varsity has made it a rule to offer every year a chance to senior students to try their abilities at "the sham English examination for seniors seeking occupations". This examination needs no charges and is supported by Personal Department. This year, it was held on June 7 with more than 400 students participating in it.

It seemed that this attempt appealed to the seniors who have been to be estranged from English.

Several students said, "Frankly speaking, we couldn't understand the questions well", but they hoped that the examination like this time would be held more frequently to sharpen their own incitement to English studies. Some of them said two questions on composition would be welcomed as they would be a great help to them.

Following is the questions of the examination. Undergraduates could surely find it useful to try them once.

Select three questions and translate into Japanese;

1. In the new-won prosperity Germany nosed past Great Britain in steel production in 1955 and today leads Europe in automobile exports. West sense problems.

Judō Falls Down To 2nd Place

New Party is Under the Plan

What was the conclusion of the violence case of the Cheering Party, which was forced to disband itself in the face of the stubborn students' demand for it?

Entity of a cheering party is found necessary for sport matches which are now arranged before summer vacation. This university has at present no organization that helps to make matches interesting and enthusiastic. When the All-Japan Student Sumo Championship, for instance, is held, a cheering contest has been one of the annual offerings in order to give an additional animation to the spectators of the games.

In the case of this university there is no possibility of joining in that kind of cheering contest. However, there is a great need for immediate re-organization of a cheering party. But the party like we had before is not wanted as it was a target of censure in the eyes of most of the students.

Concerning this anxiety, the Student Self-Government Association asserts that efforts must be made to make a new party as soon as possible. But in doing so care must be taken by students not to give birth to any new party that will repeat acts of violence in the campus.

Whether or not the contemplated new cheering party should belong directly to the Student Self-Government Association is a matter not to be decided forthwith. Therefore it is to be left to debate between the Association and the Athletic Union, while seeking some technical aid from former members for the re-birth of the party. Since they are students of this university, paying the tuitions and taking the terminal examination, nowhere are there rules that former members should not be again members of the new party.

This may be the very point that has been most frequently questioned by many students. It has been clearly indicated that the activities of the dissolved party were as a result of taciturnity which had made lukewarm the attitude of students. In these activities a few party leaders might be said to have led their members to censure other students.

Until the new cheering party is formally organized, the cheering departments of both Student Self-Government Association and Athletic Union are to act as an interim party and they are making active preparations.

The Chuo team defeated Shophia Univ., College of Pharmacology, Tokyo Univ. of Education and Takushoku Univ. one after another and appeared in the final match, fighting against Nihon Univ. team which won victory last year. In the final, Chuo was defeated by Nihon Univ., 2-0, and ranked second. The Chuo team, however, captured the qualification to participate in the All-Japan Intercollegiate Judo Championship series which are going to be held on July 7. After those matches, Katsuyoshi Ohta (Eco. 2), the second player of the Chuo team, was awarded for his superiority together with other 4 players of Nihon Univ., Meiji Univ., Takushoku Univ. and Tokyo Univ. of Education.

The members of Chuo Judo club are as follows;

- The first M. Asono (3 dan)
- The second K. Ohta (3 dan)
- The third Imagawa (3 dan)
- The center U. Morita (3 dan)
- The fifth Iwasaki
- Vice captain S. Ohta
- Captain K. Watanabe

SENA BRANCH IN THE KANSAI AREA

SENA (Student English Newspaper Association) decided at the general meeting on June 14 to organize a branch of SENAI in the Kansai area. Kansai Gakuen, Kansai, Kinki, Doshisha, and Konan Universities are expected to be admitted into the membership of association at its Sept. general meeting. The present members of organization are 11, including "Hakumon Herald".

SENA is going to start a drive over Japan to encourage overall activities for English publications, and at the same time it is much awaited that many varsities including those in Kyushu and Hokkaido will start issuing English publications.

Igo Holds Cup

The Intercollegiate Igo Tournament was held at Nihon Kinn at Takanawa, every Sunday from May 26 of June 16. It was supported by the Mainichi Shimbun and Nihon Kinn.

On the first day, after the opposing ceremony, Chuo defeated Hitotsubashi with the score of 5-0, and won six other games with ease. The school was ranked first among eight universities.

ON THE SCREEN

Wrong Man (Warner Brothers film)—Happy Ending in Fears.

Before the story, Hitchcock, the director of this film, appears in the screen and tells us, as an introduction to the story, that this movie is quite different from ones he has ever directed, and depends entirely upon a true story which happened once in America. The story begins with a scene in a night club in

New York where the hero of this movie (Henry Fonda) works as a contrabass player.

Manie is a plain civilian, though not so well-off, but he has a beautiful wife (Vella Miles) and is a father of two lovely children. He has never stayed out without notice for these nine years. He neither smokes nor drinks. No better husband.

One day, however, a terrible accident falls on this happy home. One night he comes home late very tired, and goes into his wife's room. He finds her still sitting unable to have sleep because of a toothache.

They talk how to get three hundred dollars to cure her tooth. With a salary of $5 dollars a week, he does not know what to do. Finally, they decide to raise money from the insurance company with which her life is insured. Next day, he visits the company where he is taken for a robber broken into the company before. Police arrests him at the door of his own home.

He comes to be accused of stealing by some shop-keepers whose shops have been robbed. To make the matter worse his position becomes unfavorable because of the analysis of handwriting.

Moreover, he finds two men, whom he met on the very day of the event, already dead and gone when he visits them to have his alibi proved.

While spending his time in desperation, the robber breaks into shops one after another, but one day he gets caught by an old couple. The story, after all, closes in a happy ending by the appearance of the true robber. The effects of movie are so strange that they make us fearful of such a case actually happening to us. They also give us a sort of doubt or fear about the court system of America.

It is due to the talent of Hitchcock that we never get tired of the film which lasts more than two hours.

Boxing Ranks the King

The 11th All Japan Intercollegiate Boxing Championship was held at the Korakuen Ice Palace on the 28th of June between Chuo Univ. and Kansai Univ.

Chuo which won victory in the Kanto District defeated Kansai 8 to 1, answering to the enthusiastic cheering of students. Kansai, the champion in the Kansai District, winning every five-league match, struggled in its attempt to win the first champion title, but gave way to Chuo owing to the bad condition of Maki (Fly W.) and Amaki (Bantam W.).

It was also quite unlucky to Kansai that Washio, one of the most excellent players, could not fight because of his family reasons.

The victory of Chuo was due to the result of fighting spirit. The results were as follows:

Fly Weight	decision	Maki
*Ametani	decision	Matsuda
*Kawamura	decision
Bantam W.	decision	Toriha
*Miyazaki	decision	Amaki
*Katoh	decision
Feather W.	decision	Kashima
Oka-da	decision	Ogawa
Sasaki	decision
Light W.	decision	Ishida
*Kajihara	decision
L. Welter W.	decision	Shimizu
*Tsuuzuki	decision
Welter W.	TKO	Kohara
*Takahashi
